

Queen Victoria - Unification - The 1d Lilac.

The Customs & Revenue Act of 1881 called for a single stamp that could be used for both postal and fiscal use. This was achieved by incorporating the words Postage and Inland Revenue in the design of the stamp. The resulting design we know of as the 1d Lilac replaced both the 1d Venetian Red postage stamp and the 1d Inland Revenue stamp. The use by the printers, De La Rue, of double-fugitive ink prevented the removal of both postmarks and handwritten fiscal markings, neither of which could be achieved without altering the colour of the stamp.

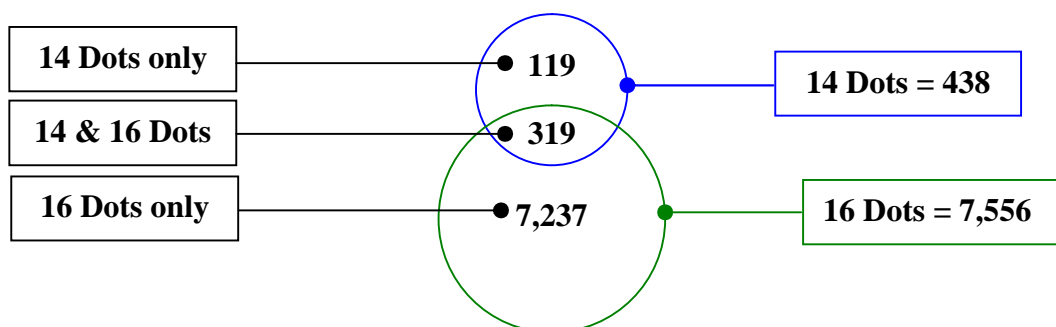

Die I

The 1d Lilac was issued on 12th July 1881 with 14 dots in each corner, known as Die I. This die was only in use for five months before being replaced on the 12th December 1881 by Die II with 16 corner dots, allowing the wording to look less cramped.

Die II

The same basic information is presented below in tabular form.
